VOL. IV. NO. 240. CHICAGO, SUNDAY AND MONDAY, OCTOBER 9-10, 1898. PRICE, 5 CENTS

ALPEN'S STALLION STAKES.

Alpen won the Stallion Stakes at Hawthorne in the presence of 10,000 persons. It was a bright, sunshiny day, but the track was heavy and dead. The final betting against the winner—which was ridden by Maher—was 13 to 10 (Fleischmann's entry), 6 to 5 place, 3 to 5 show. Miss Marion was second, Dr. Eichberg, third. The race was run in 1:18. There were ten starters and the gross value of the Stakes was $21,470. Value to winner, $18,270, second $1,300, third $700. Alpen is the property of C. Fleischmann Sons and is a light chestnut colt by Sir Dixon—Alpina. He was bred by Clay & Woodford and was bought as a yearling, at a sale in St. Louis, lumped with Sir Hubert and two others, the lot bringing $1,600. W. O. Scully was the purchaser but as the man who had agreed to furnish the money backed out, Scully turned the horses over to Fleischmann Sons. This renders certain another first class hard luck story from Scully.

As the nominator of the sire of the winner, Clay & Woodford receive $500; of the sire of the second horse, B. G. Thomas takes $300, and of the sire of the third horse, C. J. Enright gains $200. The Stallion Stakes is the most valuable two-year-old event of the year bar The Futurity, and is richer by far than any stake run in the west since 1894.

Society was not represented and no four-in-hands graced the infield. The drives approaching the Hawthorne track are of the best, the railroad facilities unequalled, but the race-course is on the West Side. Aristocracy may make its money on one side of the river and spend it on the other. That's nobody's business! The West Side, courses having no weighty financiers, able lawyers, great newspaper men or cunning politicians interested in their welfare, declare their purpose "cold turkey" and acknowledge that without betting racing cannot exist. The result is that even such a mighty turf event as that of yesterday is a thing of a day, and its promoters are considered by alleged reformers as bad men in the community. The real lovers of racing will flock to any spot where is presented the actual article, and Hawthorne's big race drew a large number of citizens from racing centers widely separated and remote from Chicago. It is only the sporting man who nowadays braves the perils of the "hold ups" and comes to Chicago to spend his time and money. Therefore, "conspicuous by his absence" was the country merchant, a man that in the days when policemen shot at thieves and murderers instead of plunking targets for medals occasionally dropped into town to attend the races. But the crowd was a huge one and, as on Derby Day, jollity everywhere was the prevailing condition.

Jinks, at the opening of the betting, being posted at 4 to 1 caused general surprise to the uninformed, and these men putting on their money were injured by the reports spread some days since to the effect that the Stallion Stakes was practically over before the horses went to the post. The fact was that the bookmakers knew that Pat Dunne's filly had spread her foot in her work on Friday. The owner was undecided all morning as to starting her and although cautioned by such a good judge as J. H. McCormick as to the liability of ruining his filly, the plucky Dunne, applying all known applications of cocaine, etc., to the injured foot finally sent Jinks to the post. The trio of Messrs. Fleischmann was opened as an entry at 4 to 5, but at once advanced to 11 to 10. The prices first posted varied but little, Jinks receding slightly. There was a straggling play on all the horses, but Miss Marion was neglected as Barney Schreiber did not think she fancied sticky going and had been on his knees all the night previous praying for rain to make the going sloppy. Fleischmann's entry drifted to 13 to 10 at the post, and a trifle of 7 to 5 might be had.

The horses went to the post in gallant style, even Jinks not favoring her injured foot, and none could find fault with his champion. The size of Jockey Maher was much commented upon, it being unusual to see a 92 pound boy riding a favorite carrying 118 pounds, for Alpen was the well touted animal to do the trick. He certainly looked like a good racehorse, as sodding his splendid head, and like Yo Tambien, turning his blaze face to the grand stand, he moved lazily on in the center of the parade. Dr. Eichberg was the last horse to reach the post. A line up was quickly effected by Bruen, and at the first attempt a perfect start was made, all the horses nearly aligned across the track. The Barrister moved to the front in the first few strides, but was quickly outrun by Miss Marion. The latter could never shake off Alpen, the favorite sticking within two lengths until the first three-eighths, where Miss Marion's effort to draw away widened a gap which in the next eighth was again closed, and the pair raced into the homestretch, the filly leading by two lengths only. Dr. Eichberg had been fourth, Jinks fifth at the half mile ground on the backstretch, but The Barrister falling away, the crippled filly headed Dr. Eichberg and showed third eight lengths behind Alpen. As the flying leaders gave out no signal of distress, the race was now seen to be between them solely. Miss Marion kept the lead until nearing the last eighth, where Alpen, closing with her, Rutter sent the filly to the whip. He put it down with excellent judgment as Alpen showed ability to go on and looked around to see where the others were. Finding nothing near (the others were ten lengths away), Rutter reasoned that he could lose nothing by driving home and he set to work with whip and spur to such effect, that at the last sixteenth Miss Marion's nose was at the leader's flanks. Here Alpen bore in slightly and Maher proved himself a cool and capable jockey by straightening up his horse before a foul could occur. From now on to the wire the horses ran almost stride for stride and Alpen won nose and tail. Both finished closely on the inside rail and Rutter claimed foul, which Judge Rees did not allow. The presiding judge said that the claim was made in a half hearted manner. The boy was most likely taking "a dying chance." Dr. Eichberg, finishing near the outside fence got the third money, but was beaten off by those ahead of him; in fact he had a tight race with Chancery for the position, several others being close up, causing a fierce drive on the part of "Jockey Bill."

Nemo, a horse that opened at 30, was backed down to 8 to 1 for the first race, but Marcato ruled favorite at 3 to 2. The bookmakers were kept busy by a steady play on Sir Hobart, and Chauncey Fisher was nibbled at, but all other horses advanced in price. The track was heavy and holding and in his preliminary Nemo ran well, but the best he could do at any stage of the race was to show third at the far turn. The start was excellent, but Neome fell back in the first few strides, the lead being taken first by Moch, then by Prestar and the two named were first and second to the upper turn, where Marcato joined them, and Chauncey Fisher, fifth, was six lengths behind Prestar. The latter led on surferance from Marcato to the final sixteenth, the favorite then going on and winning handily from Mr. Easton, who came from nowhere, and beat the tired Prestar for the place. Herman Kahn, a long shot, was fairly well up in fifth position.

For the second race Timemaker was opened by the new bookmakers at 6 to 5 but very little money was taken from the eager crowd of speculators even when a big "1" was placed opposite the name of Mr. Schorr's horse, and 4 to 5 was the quotation for bets as large as $50. Verify and Mary Black were held at 4 to 1 each and in the book with the favorite barred, the former stood at 6 to 5, Mary Black at 3 to 2. Against Nivoce, Sugar Cane and Jim Brown 200 to 1 each was laid. Timemaker, refusing to join his field, was finally left at the post. Realizing that it was a start J. McDonald sent out Timemaker after the other horses which were many lengths ahead of him. The favorite ran a most extraordinary race and finally finished third, about four lengths behind Verify, the winner. Nicholas, a new comer, led away from the post, Mary Black second, Verify third. At the far turn Nicholas stopped and looked to be willing to get out of the track. On the upper turn Mary Black was passed by Verify, who led easily the balance of the way. Mary Black was lengths ahead of Nivoce at the last three-sixteenths, but the long shot of J. DeLong's plugged along while Wishard's filly, driven hard, at the last hundred yards stopped to nothing, and not only Nivoce beat her handily, but Timemaker got up in time to win third money in the last strides. Nivoce at one time was 60 to 1 place, 10 to 1 show, and went to the post at 40 to 10, and the holiday crowd, naturally given to long shots, hurt the bookies considerably.

Hosi went out and was not caught until a half mile from home, where Winslow, laid off from six to ten lengths behind all the other horses, was waved on by a rubbing cloth in the hands of his trainer, who stood in the infield, and he ran from last to first place in a sixteenth of a mile. Bethlehem Star had been lying close behind Hosi, and he now cut out after Winslow, the pair leaving all others far behind. A short drive at the last eighth, and the old horse outlived the younger one, winning as he pleased by several lengths, while Bethlehem Star finished many lengths better than Hosi, third. The others were strung out to the eighth post. Lucid ran second at the end of the first mile, but sulked and pulled up "absolutely." Paul Kauvar looked dangerous at one and one-quarter miles, but he soon had enough. Valid was prominent for three-quarters of a mile.

Populist, a five-year-old bay gelding by Berlin—Pun, was bought early this season for a $50 note and taken to Canada. His win yesterday of the steeplechase over the full course proclaims him about as handy a jumping horse as has been seen in Chicago. It is probable that no horse ever covered a like distance hereabouts and led from the fourth jump to the finish as he did. Mr. Corrigan demurred to the remark, "Populist is a great horse," saying, "Now, he may be first class, but to prove it he must first carry 170 pounds to victory." Populist jumped his fences low, much in the style Old Guy cleared the hurdles. If those behind tried to head him there he was in front "allee samee" and if they showed a disposition to wait, he was willing to wait too. Jezebel went over the second and third fences in the lead, the favorite having held the post of honor over the first obstacle. At the water jump Jezebel was taken back and Ellison was content to race alongside or behind Master Fred nearly all the way. Orderly was second over the water jump and kept up well until a half mile further along when he bolted the course. At the eighth fence, Uncle Jim, who had been lying away back, got to within four lengths of the leaders, and his backers thought

THE BELLE MEADE SALE.

The successful sires Tremont, and Dandie Dinmont, seventy-two broodmares of the most approved breeding, thirty-six yearlings and thirty-five weanlings will constitute the imposing list of thoroughbred horses to be disposed of at auction by General W. H. Jackson next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at the Belle Meade Farm, near Nashville, Tenn. An inspection of the catalogue will show that the great majority of the broodmares are so young that they are barely on the threshold of their careers as producers of speed. The fact that such grand young mares as Tulla Blackburn, Madam Reel and Fairy are included in the list to be sold to the highest bidder is ample evidence that those offered are not culs but as good in all respects as those which will be retained on the farm.

Sons of Virgil are very scarce and in offering the unbeaten Tremont, Gen. Jackson is giving some fortunate breeder a chance to secure about the best living great grandson of the immortal Glencoe. Only fourteen years old, Tremont has many years of usefulness before him and as he has already begotten scores of winners, there is no telling to what greatness as a sire he may yet attain. He and Dandie Dinmont are bound to prove prizes to whomsoever may secure them.

The conditions governing this great sale are thus set forth in the catalogue: "The highest bidder to be the buyer; and if any dispute arises between two or more bidders, the lot so disputed shall be immediately put up again and resold.

"The lots to be at the buyer's risk and expense upon the fall of the hammer.

"All the yearlings contained in this catalogue will be sold with their engagements, and purchasers will be required to sign transfer blanks accepting the engagements upon payment of the purchase money and before bill of sale is rendered.

"All amounts under $100, cash; $100 and over, four months note with approved security bearing six per cent interest.

"All accounts must be closed at the end of each day's sale."

NOTES OF THE TURF.

The Latonia judges, after an investigation into the matter, found that, as claimed by the owner of Ideal Beau, The Doctor had won three races subsequent to August 15, one at Newport and two at the Carthage Fair, and that he was therefore ineligible to start in the third race Wednesday, which he won. There was nothing for the Latonia officials to do under the circumstances but to disqualify The Doctor so far as having any part of Wednesday's purse was concerned, which was done. This gives Ideal Beau first money in that race, Jamboree second and Jack Bradley third.

The report that Morris Park would be cut up into building lots next spring, published in some of the dailies, is characterized by Mr. A. H. Morris as "simply twaddle." "The Westchester Racing Association has the property another year, at any rate, and after that we have as yet no definite plans."—Spirit of the Times.

Pat Nolan, once widely known as a steeplechase jockey, died at his home at Sheepshead Bay, Sunday, October 2. Nolan retired from the turf about twelve years ago and purchased property at Sheepshead Bay, where he engaged in the livery stable business.

J. H. Smith has bought the 2-year-old colt Blenheim, by Springbok—Addie. It is to be hoped his running in his new owner's hands will be more consistent than it has been in they would "cash," but soon Tom Hurns' horse fell back beaten. Crossing the water the last time Troil and Proverb were within eight lengths of the leader, and it was supposed the first named had some chance to win, but although he won over the same course at his last essay he never got any closer and finally was pulled up, beaten off, as was Proverb. Crossing the back field the last time, and with one half mile to cover, Corrigan's horse made play, and having Master Fred—this horse in Canada beat Populist at a difference of eighteen pounds in his favor—beaten over the last fence, Jezebel under full sail got near Populist at the last eighth. But the favorite, without apparent effort, let out a link and won as he pleased. Master Fred was a fair third and Uncle Jim a bad fourth.

To a good start, in truth, bar the unfortunate matter of Timemaker, and as to this horse rumor was current that the jockey had something to do with his being left, Mr. Bruen had the very best luck all day. Inuendo led on sufferance from Hampden up the backstretch. Elidad and Her Favor were close up at the far turn, but soon after Hampden went out in front and won all the way, never extended. Elidad was second in a drive from Her Favor behind which came Molo, the hot favorite.

So wound up a great day of racing. If the institution is to be killed by the efforts of the villagers—and a gentleman suggested that the faint bell heard at a distance of three miles was tolling a funeral knell and marked the spot where beneath the thin shell of Paritanism could be seen in close communion the schemer and fanatic—it can always be said of Hawthorne that it died in full vigor, for the Stallion Stakes is proof that Edward Corrigan is up to the best as a promoter of improvement in the thoroughbred horse.

Mr. Fleischmann's three colts will leave today for the east and Maher will accompany them. This jockey made a favorable impression on those fortunate enough to meet him while in Chicago. He said that W. B. Jennings had made him an offer to go to California the coming season of winter racing, but that he had not yet received permission to go to the coast from his employer, A. J. Joyner. Willie Martin said that he would not ride much more this season, as he is suffering somewhat from an injury received at Saratoga.

The sale of the D. C. Schafer yearlings realized sorry prices, the star of the lot, a brown gelding, a full brother of Bolivar Buckner, by Blazes, selling for $150. The average price was $62. The youngsters were better than they looked, as the car ride from Gallatin, Tenn., had been severe on them.

"Jimmy" McCormick was the largest local winner on Alpen, he having placed upon the Fleischmann stable some $2,000, spread about straight, place and show.

Twenty-four regular and three field books "cut in" for two days.

Time, 4:42.

Winner—Ch. g, by Duke of Magenta—Shansheen.

Start good. Won easily. Shillalah was far the best and the wet going seemed to suit him. Royal Scarlet was also favored by the mud and hung on more gamely than he usually does. Wood Pigeon ran splendidly and is at his best. He had the worst of the weight and prefers fast going. Russell Harrison's very promising. So is Perion, but in a less degree.

Scratched—Plutarch, 139; Widower, 135.

Shillalah, place, 1 to 2. Royal Scarlet, place, 7 to 10.

Time, 26, 52, 1:064, 1:194, 1:454.

Winner—Ch. g, by Pontiac—Girofie.

Start good. Won driving. Frontiersman was certainly the best horse. Brass is improving daily and liked the mud. He closed strong. Julius Caesar was cut loose today and ran well. Siffleur wants a fast track always and was easily second best. The others are bad racehorses.

Scratched—To and Fro, 112; Emma Nora, 108.

Frontiersman, place, 6 to 5; show, 1 to 2. Brass, place, 2 to 1; show, even. Julius Caesar, show, 1 to 2.

Winner—B c, by Phoenix—Glen Hop.

Start straggling. Cormorant was the best. He was finely handled and well saved the first part. Greatland, evidently good in mud, closed fast at the end. Tender ran her race and was lucky, but got a weak finish. Campus ran well, but beat the gate. Morning also ran well, but had a scant chance with the jockey Tyran, Colonel Tenny, Passee Partout and Halo were all poorly handled. Turveydrop got off badly and closed up a big gap. Easter Card is of little present account.

Scratched—The Gardener, 107; Cambrian, 105; Exception, 97; Meddlesome, 95; Tip Gallant, 95; Valdivia, 95; Anitra, 87.

Cormorant, place, even; show, 3 to 5. Greatland, place, 7 to 5; show, 3 to 5. Tender, show, 4 to 5.

Time, 24, 484, 1:004, 1:144.

Winner—Ch. c, by Candlemas—Biggote.

Start straggling. Martimas, beautifully handled, was clearly best. He swerved slightly at the end. Lady Lindsay was favored by the going and ran fully up to her best form. She should have won, but Jones was caught napping at the end. King Barleycorn likes the mud. He was badly shut off near the wire but ran finely under somewhat weak handling. Manlius was slightly outclassed but was a good horse however. Himtine found the route too long and tired the last eighth. Prest'trice ran well. Acushla and Ornamental were eased up at the end. Both showed speed. Watch Ornamental.

Scratched—Armament, 122; Jean Beraud, 122; Rusher, 115.

Martimas, place, 4 to 1; show, 2 to 1. Lady Lindsay, place, 2 to 1; show, 4 to 5. King Barleycorn, show, 1 to 2.

FIFTH RACE—2 Miles. 3-year-olds and upward. The Morris Park Special. $5,000 added.													O	H	L	C
